The Blue Ribbon Fair is now in progress as we go to press, and from all indications it promises to eclipse all former fairs held on these beautiful grounds.

Already several stables of fine horses, hogs and cattle, and the show ring will be especially interesting.

The speed ring will be a daily, there being sixteen entries of the cream of the turf.

There has been some kick made as to the 25 cents admission and 25 cents to get on the amphitheater. This is a good move on the part of the Fair Company.

Heretofore there have been a whole lot of goody-good people who had the races for an excuse for not patronizing this home institution. Now they can go to the Fair and never see a race. There is the Floral Hall, where beauty and attractiveness reign and where the best part of the Fair is.

Tomorrow will be two races tomorrow—the three-year-old pace, with six entries—

Blank, John, Tom Martin, George A., Nancy Lee, Allie P.—and the 2 1/8 trot, with nine entries—Wanona, Letcher, Mayague, Clorine, Claude M., Blame, Lemone, Simmonette, Pellerine.

The Mayagway Band, the daintiest class of music-makers on earth, will furnish the music for the visitors to the Grand Stand, while Colonel J. B. Noyes has an orchestra in Floral Hall to delight visitors to that delightful place.

And with the assistance of two tiny typewriters, pink-lemonade stands and William "Comrade" Davis and Dan Shaffer to look after your appetites, you can rest assured of having a good time.

Fair tickets will be on sale at the Central Hotel. Streetcars will take you to grand stand, Wonder if that same train went by us Monday? . . .

THAT EARTHQUAKE.

IT WAS A GREAT DEAL WORSE THAN AT FIRST REPORTED.

The earthquake shock that was felt in this city and surrounding country Monday about noon was a great deal more severe than was reported.

At first several good citizens felt the vibrations, heard the rumbling noise and doors open and chairs rock, but they were afraid if they said anything about it they would have been laughed at.

But after they saw THE LEDGER had nerve enough to say there was an earthquake, they began telling their experiences and a half hour after this paper was upon the streets everybody in town had felt it.

The vibrations were from East to West, and were very distinct.

Up at Springdale, "where there are nothing but heavy freight trains that move and shake the earth," according to a man who never makes a mistake, and who occasionally writes for a sixteen-page daily published in this state, the shock was very great.

One farmer was standing in a ravine cutting grass off the side of a small hill, one foot in the ravine and the other on the hillside, when suddenly he became unable to stand still, and dropped to the seythe and lay there.

The old man found a boy on a horse, who, when asked what was the matter, replied "That he didn't know." Another old gentleman in the same neighborhood was thrown from a chair.

There was an earthquake shock felt in this neighborhood once before, but a very "smart" man wrote to the effect that it was nothing more than a heavy freight train on the C. and O. road going by; but that gentleman who felt the shock was three miles from the railroad and the Springdale residents didn't feel it at all.

Sick

that's probably what ails you if you're downy in the day time. If you yawn, stretch, and feel too weak to work, and broken up generally, some people may call it "Spring Fever," but you are sick.

But do not be disengaged. Many persons have felt just like you, and have been made well and strong by and what this famous old strengthening medicine has done for others, it will do for you.

But what is Brown's Iron Bitters so good for the health? Any physician can tell you.

Brown's Iron Bitters is pleasant to take. It will not stain the teeth nor cause constipation. See the crossed red lines on the wrapper.

Miss Amelia Frost, daughter of Professor Frost, formerly of this city, now of Portsmouth, will render some selection in elocution at an entertainment in this city Friday evening.

Mr. George Burrows lost a pocket book Sunday, brought an advertisement to THE LEDGER Monday, and found the lost article Tuesday. Oh, it pays to advertise, especially in THE LEDGER.

The lecture tonight of Rev. Sam Small's at the Opera-house, the subject of which is "From Barroom to Pulpit" is one every citizen of this city should hear. Only 10 cents admission.

A NEW SCHOOL.

Mr. Waller Takes Charge of the Mayville University.

Today the Mayville University School changes hands. Mr. John T. Cleland, who has hitherto had the matter in charge, goes to Batesville, Ark., to take charge of Arkansas College.

Mr. Henry Waller, who will hereafter be in charge of the school, is a graduate of Center College of the class of 1894.

The past year he has been taking a course in Latin, Greek and German at Columbia College, N. Y.

The school well deserves the patronage of our people, and Mr. Waller is well qualified to do its work.

The charge for tuition is now $50 for the ten months.

It is Mr. Waller's purpose to build up a first-class University School in the course of the next few years.

Of Interest to Ladies.

We offer no apology in placing before you THE LADIES' SAFE PROTECTOR. It is absolutely reliable, easily adjusted, does not interfere with any garment, or can be worn without detection, without observation or knowledge of another, and prevents disagreeable annoyance under certain conditions. If you use it once you will be satisfied.

It is a fail-safe and reliable friend whom you need by special circumstances requiring it.

It is an article every woman should keep ready for immediate use. It is simple to use and gives you confidence in using it.

It is reliable and scientifically made, insures protection without injury to health, as any good physician would say. We are of the opinion that the article we have described will give as much satisfaction to the women of today as THE LADIES' SAFE PROTECTOR.

The immense sales of this article is a substantial indication of our claims. Do not be afraid to experiment with the bank book.

There are numerous unreliable articles as this is but a dangerous health and expensive to do so.

Such experimenting can only result in loss of time, disappointment and disappointment.

Persons calling for these letters will please say that they are advertised.

A MILL HORROR.

Fourteen Furnace Men Victims of an Explosion.

A Flood of Molten Metal Destroyed Six Lives.

Eight Others Were Badly Burned, Some of Whom Can Not Live—The Scene Was Carnegie's Steel Works, Braddock, Pa.—Victims Mostly Slaves.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 21.—Furnace "H" of the Edgar Thomson steel works (Carnegie's plant), at Bessemer, near Braddock, Pa., exploded between four and five o'clock Tuesday morning, killing four men and badly burning eight others, one of whom, a slave, escaped from the furnace escaping. Some of the injured were brought to this city for treatment, and the dead are in the hands of an undertaker. The following names are those killed and buried.

Killed—Joseph Luckai, aged 40 years, leaves widow and four children, resided at Woltown; Stephen Harrill, aged 32, married, died at Braddock, aged 32, his wife, John Koprovich, aged 29, married, lived at Bessemer; James Gruchka, Joseph Cot, aged 32, unmarried; John Mike.

Injured—John Warha, will die; John Skond, will die; Michael Juric, will die; John Krescik, slightly injured; Andrew Broshock, will die; John Zverina, slightly injured; John Harrison, will probably die; Michael Koprovich, will die.

A large, narrow lead with raw iron on one had fallen through the large bell on the top of the furnace stack. Fourteen men were engaged in an effort to remove the barrow from the bell, so that it would be closed. While engaged in this effort, the iron had fallen on the men, causing them to be severely injured. Work in every department of the huge plant was temporarily abandoned, and all efforts extended to the rescue of the horribly mangled victims, who had been buried in all directions, including the furnace, which resembled a volcanic eruption of gigantic proportions.

Michael Koprovich, aged 29, and Andrew Drobnek, aged 36 years, previously reported among the injured at the explosion, were found dead in the furnace. The body of M. E. Hawley was taken from the still burning ruins. It was a sickening sight, burned, disfigured and do-bled by the weight of tons of ruins. Four hours earlier the body of James Murphy was recovered. But a short distance from the spot where Hawley met his awful end the corpse of Gen. Charles Adams was found.

From Gen. Adams there are known to be four bodies. They are those of Lizzie Lager, Louise Reinhuber, Emma Millethaler and A. S. Blake.

There is a report that the body of Gen. Adams was recovered.

After hunting Jones about his ability to shoot, Hazzard threw up his hat for Jones to shoot at. Jones fired, but the charge of buckshot entered the face, neck and shoulders of Hazzard. The victim is a son of James H. Hazzard.

WINCHESTER, Ky., Aug. 21.—Henry Hazzard, aged 16, was fatally shot by Frank Jones, a youth of about the same age, as a result of his own folly and Jones had aimed Jones' revolver at Hazzard's right eye, and shot him in the eye.

ANOTHER EDITORIAL LETTER BY THE WAY.

Philadelphia a City of American Homes, Built by Protection to American Industries.

PHILADELPHIA, August 17th, 1895.

Leaving Washington yesterday afternoon, the route by Philadelphia, and the extreme Eastern part of Pennsylvania thus this great city was reached at 8 p.m.

The temperature was the iron-furnace brand, the dust blinding, the smoke stifling, and altogether the conditions were disagreeable in the extreme.

Mark appears to be recovering from the bright of her devotion to false gods, and there are many evidences of new life. This is especially noticeable at Baltimore and Harve de

Grace, two of her oldest cities, where modern methods are rapidly replacing antiquated ideas.

Elsewhere, too, seems willing to recover from her lethargy; and she is being aided by an enterprising Philadelphian, who has shinged and sanded every barn and outhouse along the road with the declaration that "Shark's Cansehills Pills are the Best Cathartics," etc.

Well, here's Broad Street, the largest single-span roof on earth, covering sixteen tracks and sheltering daily a larger number of railway trains than arrive at and depart from any other station on the face of the globe.

Just across the street comes up the magnifi-cant City Hall, the most stupendous single building in the world, surmounted by a thirty-seven foot statue of good old Billie Penn, whose attitude of 365 feet makes him just about alive size.

This City Hall was begun early in the seventies, and it was the original intention to have it complete for the Centennial; but the Centennial is nearly twenty years behind us, and still the great building is, like old Caleb

White's contract on Bridge street, "progressing annually a little every day some."

The cost to the present time has been about $60,- 000,000, making it several millions in excess of the Capitol at Washington, and when finished

it will probably reach the twenty million

mark. So it is not the highest in altitude,

but will be the highest in cost, although

the cost of man, or modern.

And while reflecting upon this adornment of the only American city in America, I am reminded that I am billed for a speech today at the Centennial, and when finished

it will probably reach the twenty million

mark. So it is not the highest in altitude,

but will be the highest in cost, although

the cost of man, or modern.

I have said Philadelphia is America's only American city.

This is true.

For while there is a large foreign-born element, it readily adapts itself to the surroundings and soon becomes thoroughly American-ized. In this great city, which I have seen grow from 640,000 to nearly 1,300,000 population, there are conditions that exist nowhere else.

Following the precedents laid down by the founder of the Commonwealth, and emulating

the patriots who met here and proclaimed

America free, Philadelphians have at all times been a distinctive people—believing in America and things American.

BIG PROFITS Small Investments.

Returning to prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much, within a short time, as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stocks.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our

Systematic Plan of Speculation

originated by us. All unsuccessful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that the men in the United States who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for those who invest a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $100,000.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments are those who buy away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan is to profit by the market, or fail if it brings a steady profit that is not commensurate with that of the market, and if it fails it brings a steady profit that is not commensurate with that of the market.

SEE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on successful speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual guarantees maximum trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

For this reason they are advocates of the great doctrine of Protection, nor is the advocacy confined to the Republican party alone. No stronger Protectionists can be found among the Democrats.

All men with sense enough to come in when it rains recognize what the great American idea has done for their city.

Today Philadelphia outranks every other city in the diversity and character of her manufactures; and ask any dealer in hardware where the best article is made, and he will tell you that this city stands at the very head.

She weaves two-thirds of all the carpets that door the world;

A single establishment alone completes fifteen locomotives per week the year round—more than any other entire city;

She is the parent of the American Building Association, and as the combined result of its operations, together with the Protection idea, Philadelphia today contains more dwellings than New York, Brooklyn and Cincinnati combined!

It is, indeed and emphatically, not only the City of Brotherly Love, but it is the City of Cities as well.

This much of what Protection has done for one city, and what it will do for all others that adopt American methods, will suffice for my speech at Bluefield.

It is, indeed and emphatically, not only the City of Brotherly Love, but it is the City of Cities as well.

This much of what Protection has done for one city, and what it will do for all others that adopt American methods, will suffice for my speech at Bluefield.

During a visit three years ago I called upon my old and dear comrade, Mr. Asher S. McCully of the Insurance Company of North America.

"Ash" and I were members of the old "Hibernia Target Company" recruited from the Hibernia Fire Company, which became Company C of the Second Regiment of the famous Pennsylvania Reserves, which for three years opened every important engagement fought by the Army of the Potomac—"Ash" being almost literally "shot to pieces" at Fredericksburg.

With flaring trumpets, waving banners and grand bugle calls the company marched to the war in May, 1861, bearing upon its muster roll 98 men and officers.

I thought I would like to meet once more a few of the "old boys," so I asked,

"Ash, how many of old Company C are left?"

"Well, Tom," said he with a sudden, reflective sigh, counting on his fingers, "Here are you and I, there's Billy McKeegan,

"Shoe" Robinson and Neddy McKee, and they are the only five members of the old company that are left in Philadelphia today."

It was a solemn thought—that boy company which went forth 98 strong a little more than thirty-four years ago—only four remained in the great city to greet a fifth who lived seven hundred miles away. I secured the address of each one named, and about that size.

"Ash, I will see them before today's sun sets," I started out; and I did see two of them whom I will never see again in this world; for brave Lieutenant Robinson and big-hearted Billy McKeegan have joined the silent majority; and today as I sit talking to my old comrade there are but three of us in Philadelphia.

In connection with Neddy McKee I will relate a fact quite remarkable.

The Pennsylvania Reserves were recruited under a special act of the Legislature at a time when patriotism was at white heat and soldier-material was abundant.

The "Reserves" were composed of fifteen full regiments—one of artillery, one of of cavalry, one of sharpshooters and twelve of of infantry.

They were equipped by the state, and sworn in for "three years or the war," subject to the call of the President.

After the fiasco at Bull Run, July 21st, 1861, you may believe the "Pennsylvania Reserves" were called upon instantaneously; and their dead are on every battlefield—from Drainsville to the Wilderness—while the isolated Reynolds field is at their head at Gettysburg.

It was in May, 1861, that Company C was sworn into service by General Bidwell in the parlor of the old Girard House.

The physical examination was rigid, and it took a staunch craftsman to pass muster.

McKeegan was a delicate printer-boy whose fate seemed already sealed by consumption; but he was determined if possible to go with his old chums.

It so happened that when his name was called for examination Charley Dougherty should take his place. Mr. Dougherty was then but a boy, a splendid specimen of physical manhood, and "Neddy" McKee passed muster like a lamb.

Stranger than all, that delicate printer-boy went through the three years service, never missed a day's duty when called upon, never attended a sick call, was about a year in Confederate prisons—and he is working today in one of the biggest printing offices in the city

—a monument to human endurance, while scores of robust comrades fell by the wayside and perished.

I stepped into a mammoth barber shop this morning and a couple of placards almost took my breath.

There are twelve chairs in the shop, and handsomely printed notices stare at each customer—and each customer stares back at them with unanimous satisfaction;—and this is what you find:

Barbers employed in this establishment are positively prohibited from ever using any language that would offend customers, who are kindly requested to conform to this regulation.

Barbers employ in this establishment reward to Tipping will be discharged immediately.

That shop is always crowded with customers; and it's a wonder some fool hotel man doesn't adopt a like method of drawing patronage.

However, I commend the idea.
